A (21a) wonderful book for children written by Paul Fleischman, and illustrated by Kevin Hawkes.

The story is about Wesley, an imaginative boy who creates a new land: Weslandia! Why? Because he wants to live in a place where things are unusual, just like he is (22a) unusual. He wants to live in a land, where things are just as he imagines them to be.

Wesley, the (23a) main character, does not fit in at his school, or even in his own home! He is different from other children. For example, he doesn’t like pizza, coca-cola or football. He does things differently from others and this is why they don’t like him. So, he feels lonely.

Loneliness can make you a miserable and hateful person. But not Wesley! When school is (24a) out and summer comes, he decides to make something fantastic. So, he plants not a garden, but his own new land. He plants Westlandia -- a land where things grow like flowers!

The story has a happy end. Wesley makes lots of friends and the people around him like, understand and appreciate him. Read the book to (25a) find out how this comes about!

Young blogger!

33a. Hi Rojan and thank you so much for coming in. What would you like to tell us about yourself?

34a. How and when did you get the idea to start a blog and how long did it take you to get serious about blogging?

35a. Today many people start their own blogs on topics like making money online, learning online, etc. In your opinion, which are the best topics for a new blogger who wants to become successful?

36a. Can you please tell me which is the best alternative to earn money from your blog?

A. I'm not sure I can. As I said before, I'm not a money blogger. But I know friends who earn money from other sources too, like freelance writing, ghost writing, designing, selling ad spaces on blogs, and paid posts.

B. I love helping people. My friends have been equally helpful to me. I am into blogging only to learn and not to make money, at least for now.

C. One of my good friends got me interested, about four months ago. When I joined the "Aha! NOW ABC" blog community, I became really involved and learned a lot from my fellow bloggers. I am still learning.

D. Well, I am Rojan Chaubey, a blogger from Mumbai, India. I write about Programming, Social Media, Blogging, Technology, and Designing. People know me as a guest author on various blogs. I have also appeared as an expert on a few tech blogs.

E. There are many blogs with the same themes, but bloggers don't have to worry if they are really creative. Yet, I think that a multi-niche blog will draw more fans than a single-niche one. I think multi-niche blogs are the best!

George Seferis

Seferis (real name Giorgos Seferiadis), famous Greek writer, was born near Smyrna, in Asia Minor, Turkey. His father, Stelios Seferiadis, was a lawyer, and later he was a professor at the University of Athens. He too was a poet and translator, like his son later.

In 1914 the Seferiadis family moved to Athens, where Seferis finished his basic education. Then, he continued by studying law at the University of the Sorbonne in Paris. While he was in France, in September 1922, Smyrna was seized by the Turkish Army. Many Greeks, including the Seferiadis family, fled from Asia Minor. They became exiles. Seferis did not return to Smyrna until 1950 –as a visitor.

Seferis lived in Athens and was admitted to the Greek Ministry of Foreign Affairs in 1926, where he began his diplomatic career. He worked as a Greek diplomat in England, Albania and Turkey.

From 1941 to 1944, the Germans invaded and occupied Greece. During these terrible years, Seferis accompanied the Free Greek Government in exile to Crete, Egypt, South Africa, and Italy. He returned when Athens was free from the Germans, in 1944.

Seferis, named as “the poet of the future”, received many honours and prizes for his lyric poetry. He also received honorary doctoral degrees from the universities of Cambridge, Oxford, Thessaloniki and Princeton.
